Short Stories in

ence to law and their devotion to the national

They are engaged in generous rivalry with their fellow citizens of other denominations in advancing the inferests of our common

This is true not only of the descendants of the early settlers and those of American birth, but of a great and constantly increasing proportion of those who have come to our shores within the last twenty-five years as refugees reduced to the direst straits of penury and misery.

All Americans may well be proud of the extraordinary illustration of the wisdom and strength of our governmental system thus

In a few years men and women hitherto utterly unaccustomed to any of the privileges of citizenship have moved mightily/upward toward the standard of loyal, self-respecting American citizenship; of that citizenship which not merely insists upon its rights, but also eagerly recognizes its duty to do its full share in the material, social and moral advancement of the nation.

With all good wishes, believe me sincerely THEODORE ROOSEVELT. After a selection by the orchestra Mr. Schiff introduced Gov. Higgins. "In and out of office," he said, "he has made himself worthy of our respectand honor." Gov. Higgins said in part:

This nation cannot long endure if our citizens consider only their opportunities and forget their obligations to the State and their fellow men. In these days of greed and the lust of gain, when man too often struggles to heap up riches with little heed to the re-straints of moral or civil law, when success seems to justify the means, when respect for the rights of others and regard for the Teelings of others give place to a sordid selfishness, we must not forget that a nation can be great and noble only as its people are a great and noble people, and that the character a nation is determined by the characters of those it honors.

When Mr. Schiff came to introduce Mayor McClellan, who sat next to Mr. Cleveland, he referred to him as "Governor McClellan." It was evidently a slip, but the audience caught it and applauded vigorously, while Mr. Schiff sat down and laughed. Gov. Higgins laughed, too, and so did Mr. Cleveland. He seemed the most amused of all. The Mayor didn't laugh at all, but his and. He seemed the most amused of all.

The Mayor didn't laugh at all, but his speech got perhaps the most applause of any. The first great burst of applause came when he spoke of it being fitting for him, "as the chief magistrate of the largest single Jewish community that the world has ever seen," to express to the Jews has ever seen, to express to the Jews present the congratulations and good wishes of the 4,000,000 of their fellow citizens of all races and creeds. The Mayor got another big cheer later, when he said that he was not one of those who feared that the immigration of non-English speaking would menace our institutions.

Deny a man the ordinary human rights of life, liberty and happiness, forbid him to worship God in his own way, deprive him of the possibility of an education, harry him, worry him, oppress him, per-secute him—and it is small wonder if the brute in him dominates the man. Can you blame him if upon his first taste of freedom he confounds license with liberty; can we blame him if, upon his first glimpse of freedom, he is inclined to follow the teachings of the first demagogue who preaches anarchy and who promises Utopia at the expense of existing law and order? Hunger and ignorance cover a multitude of sins.

But give that man the right to work out his salvation in his own way, to worship God as he pleases; protect him in the enjoyment of his rights as a man; give him the rudiments of an education; give him the possibility of earning a man's wages for a man's work; and, whether he comes from the mountains of Galicia, the steppes of Russia, or the purlieus of Whitechapel, you will find that the good red blood in him pulsates in the heart of a man made in God's image.

The Mayor said that we owed a duty to the immigrants, and that was to try to distribute them and not permit them to remain where the labor market was glutted. Another duty was to educate them, and particularly their children. "They must be taught to read and write," he said, "and, what is more important, to think in English, and if we do that we break down the bar-riers of nationality." In conclusion the Mayor touched upon the subject of the Russian massacres and said:

If the sharing of your grief by all the eighty millions of Americans, if the sympathy and the human kindness that grief has called forth serve to bind more closely together the heteroplishment of our destiny in the creation of an American race destined to lead the world in righteousness, in justice and in honor, then hose who receive the martyr's crown in Rus sia will not have died in vain.

Mayer Sulzberger of Philadelphia made a long address reviewing the history of the Jews in America, and Bishop Greer and the Rev. H. Pereira Mendes also spoke The meeting ended after Dr. Rudolph. Grossman had pronounced the benediction. Ex-President Cleveland, Gov. Higgins and the executive committee were the and the executive committee were the guests of Jacob H. Schiff at dinner before the meeting.

HOUSESMITHS EASY TO FIND. No Lack of Men to Take the Places of the Post & McCord Strikers.

The attempt to wreck on Tuesday night part of the Fifteenth street extension to the American Can Company's building at Fourteenth street and Tenth avenue will delay work at the building for a day or two.

To be prepared for similar attempts, Capt.
Burfeind of the West Twentieth street station has arranged to put four policemen in charge of the building every night.
Similar precautions are being taken at the Altman building, Thirty-fifth street and Fifth avenue, and at the building on Seventeeth street near Fifth avenue.

Strikebreaker Farley or his man Friday, Wedell will be here to-day to pick out Strikebreaker Farley or his man Friday, Wedell, will be here to-day to pick out more men. As an instance of the ease with which housesmiths can be procured, it was said yesterday, eighty men applied for places on the American Can Company's building, when only twenty-eight are required. Farley is selecting sailors out of work, longshoremen and others accustomed to heavy and hazardous work. Supt. Horgan of the American Can Company's building sailors.

work. Supt. Horgan of the American Can Company's building said:

"There is a mistaken idea that skill is required in this work. The greater part of the work is done by unskilled men. In factory buildings where cast iron beams and pillars are used there is no riveting, the work being bolted together. This can be learned very soon. Riveters are required in the big steel framed office buildings, but even in these the proportion of riveters to the unskilled men is small."

OBITUARY.

Ensign Mc(hesney, dean of the Fine Arta College of Syracuse University, died suddenly yesterday morning of angina pectoris, after an illness of two days. He took the deanan illness of two days. He took the dean-ship upon completion of his pastorate of the Madison Avenue M. E. Church of New York city, in 1898, to succeed LeRoy M. Vernon, and also became Professor of Esthetics and the History of Art. He was born near Troy, March 17, 1844, and was educated at Wesleyan University, graduating in 1868. He received the degree of Ph. D. from Boston University in 1879 and the decree of D.D. from Wesleyan University. His pastorate in New York city extended from 1886 to 1898, during which time he served St. Paul's, Calvary and Madison Avenue churches.

Avenue churches.

Charles Dudley Godfrey, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Godfrey, of 611 Fifth avenue, cled yesterday at San Diego. He was in Vis thirty-seventh year. Mr. Godfrey went to California several years ago to seek improved health and remained there. He was unmarried. The body will be brought here, but the funeral arrangements have not been completed.

not been completed.

Thomas G. Fennell of 1145 East 175th street, a lawyer prominent in The Bronx, died yesterday of consumption. He was active in Temmany Hall politics and useful to his party on the stump. Mr. Fennell, who was 38 years old, leaves a widow.

Ex-Mayor Henry Anson, "Father of Marshaltown," Iowa, died of pneumonia yesterday, at the age of 80. He was father of the dl baseball player Adrian Anson, the present City Clerk of Chicago.

APOLEON measured the shoestrings of his soldiers and saved one inch on each.

If there is any waste in your office or manufacturing methods the right system will find it and apply the remedy. Our opinion as to what you should do FREE. Ask us to call.

The Adams Company, 1133 Broadway,

KUBELIK THE VIOLINIST. He Returns to America Much Improved in His Art.

Jan Kubelik, the violinist, has come back and has brought his technic with him. He has plenty of it, as he had when he was here before. He is straighter and manlier in appearance and his playing has gained something toward masculinity. He has a wife and twins now, and that may signify something. He gave his first concert last night at Carnegie Hall and had just such an audience as he used

His principal numbers were Mozart's concerto in D major, and Wieniawski's in D minor. He played also a perpetual motion by Weber and Paganini's "Campanella," which Liszt turned into a remarkable piano piece. Mr. Kubelik is more of a violinist than he used to be. It would be idle to say that in the numbers which he played last night he disclosed any depth of conception or grandeur of style, for these compositions do not call for such qualities. But in the Mozart concerto he played with great beauty of tone, with the most exquisite intonation, with captivating elegance of phrasing and with a style musically suited to the work in hand. His growth in artistic poise was noticeable. His playing showed little desire for mere display and an earnest and generally successful en-deavor to interpret Mozart.

deavor to interpret Mozart.

It might, perhaps, be more explicit to add that the beautiful transparency of his tone throughout the entire scale of the composition, its liquid and penetrating quality, its polished smoothness and the perfection of the bowing which called it into life were features of Kubelik's playing, which made it a wholly adjectuate medium. which made it a wholly adequate medium for the embodiment of Mozarts sunny thought and essentially musical idiom. Mr. Rubelik has the undamental requisite of a lovely Mozart style, a singing tone and a fluent cantilina. His performance last night demonstrated his mastery in the classic largets. classic legato.

Damrosch and the New York watter Damrosen and the New 10th Symphony Orchestra assisted the soloist. The first number on the programme was Berlioz's "Corsair" overture, which is so rarely heard that Mr. Damrosch must have had special and cogent reasons for perform-

"DIE FLEDERMAUS" AGAIN. The Delightful Strauss Operetta Sung at

the Metropolitan. There is no rest for the public at the Metropolitan Opera House. Opera is to be found there five nights out of the six on which it may be legally performed, and on one afternoon. Blessed Philadelphia, which lies at the other end of the New Jersey bog, open at both ends, takes it from us on Tuesday nights, but we have it on Thursdays now, and the first extra Thursday performance fell upon a night of thanks-

"Die Fledermaus" was the offering of the Herr Direktor Conried last night. This delectable work of Johann Strauss was injected into the opera house repertory last season, when it was warmly welcomed by a grateful public. Last night a con- and forks. spicuous part of the public elected to go to the theatres or to stay at home and think of the glorious turkey it had destroyed. Only a small part of it seemed to regard Mr. Conried's extra Thursday evening performance as a cause for thanksgiving.

The allotment of the principal rôles was almost the same as that of last season.

Even Emil Greder, who recently came near to crossing the border, returned to his old rôle of Dr. Falke and seemed contented. Mmc. Sembrich as the cartivating his old rôle of Dr. Falke and seemed contented. Mme. Sembrich as the captivating Rosalinde. Bella Alten as pert Adele, Mr. Reiss as Alfred, Mr. Goritz as Frank, and last but not least jocund and inimitable Dippel as Eisenstein were other members of the interesting and capable cast. Marion Weed had the rôle of Prince Orlofsky, and in some respects she entirely filled it. Nahan Franko conducted the performance, but his best efforts could not induce the chorus to keep up with him.

Work of Incendiaries?

John Keegan of 61 Rapelye street, Brooklyn, smelled smoke in the hallway of the house last evening. Going in he found a quantity of oil soaked rags blazing on the second story stairs. He stamped out the fire and carried the rags to the Ham-ilton avenue station. He thinks some one intended to burn down the house, which is tenanted by three families and owned by his

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

The Fall Piver Line announces that the first class fare from this city to Boston and Fall River, formerly 83, is now $2. Trains connecting for Boston run from Fall River. The steamboa's Plymouth and Providence will be in commission all winter and will carry orchestras.

ONERS HAD FOOD FOR THANKS.

Lunch on the Bowery-Entertainments.

the very poor and the homeless. Thanksgiving is one of the days when no one need go hungry in New York. All the public, turkey dinners, and no one who applied for a meal was turned away. Even the prisoners got their fill of turkey and the

The largest dinner was at the Newsboys Lodging House, in New Chambers street. It was held last night and 1,500 boys were fed to the stuffing point. After they had eaten all they could hold, a crowd of homeless men were allowed to carry away all the food that was left. ovous shout

a freehand out," said one of the boys, "an' I got mine, but I'm ready for more,

Only two hundred boys were allowed in the dining room at one time, simply because that was all there was room for. The first batch was of the smallest boys. They were told that they might have all they wanted to eat, but when they got enough they must not linger, so the waiting ones could be fed.

The boys piled on to the long benches in front of the tables. Their plates were laden with turkey, dressing, cranberry sauce, potatoes and turnips, and for each diner there was a good big piece of pie and a large bowl of tea. The pie was banked at each plate and each boy started

When that had been downed they all grabbed at the celery that stood in bowls on the table. Newsboys don't seem to understand that celery is a vegetable and good to eat. A majority seemed to think it was a flower and good only for personal adorament. Most of it was used for boutonnières anyway; maybe because there were so many other things to eat.

polite enough to use their fingers.

but to most of them a turkey dinner was a serious proposition and something that did not admit of much fooling. At times, however, while the boys were eating, the room would become absolutely quiet for a few seconds except for the shuffling feet on the sawdust floor and the rattle of knives

Supt. Heig was all over the room telling

All the institutions under the Children's All the institutions under the Children's Aid Society supplied dinners to their inmates yesterday. W. Emlen Roosevelt, a cousin of the President, paid for the turkey dinner that 100 boys ate at the West Side Lodging House, in West Thirty-fifth street. Mrs. W. E. Dodge fed a similar number at the Forty-fourth street lodging house.

Fifteen hundred children of both sexes,

Fifteen hundred children of both sexes, most of them waifs, had turkey dinners at the Five Points Mission, in Worth street. Before the dinner there was an entertainment in which the day and Sunday school children took part. They had songs and recitations. Some of their mothers had dinner at the mission, too, later in the day. Every child on leaving was given a bag of nuts, candy and fruit. In the early part of the day a good many basket dinners were

TURKEY AND FIXINGS FOR ALL

Everybody ate turkey yesterday, even semi-public and private institutions gave things that go with it.

Supt. Heig had been busy for days preparing for the feast. There is always plenty of everything for the newsboys, for Col. John Jacob Astor pays the bill. The newsboys, those who don't live at home, began to arrive early in the morning, to learn at what hour the dinner would be held. When they found out that it would not take place until evening, many went away, but others lingered about the hallways all day long, working up appetites that would have done credit to longshoremen. When they were told they might gather in the assembly room there was a

An hour before the dinner began there were 1,000 boys on hand, and they were a noisy but cheerful lot. They were of all ages and there were not a few who gleefully admitted that they had had turkey for breakfast and again at noontime.

"I wus wise to the joints where there was for it don't come often, like beef an'."

No boy was limited to one helping if he could eat more. They were all helped so plentifully, however, that few asked for a second portion. It was amazing how those youngsters made the food disappear. They used their knives as well as their forks to get it from their plates to their mouths All ate more rapidly with their knives than they could with forks. Only a few were im-While they ate they chaffed one another, the boys to eat plenty and to ask for more if they wanted more. He did not bother them with ary formal religious ceremony before the repast began. He has been handling newsboys so long that he knows that when they want food they want it quickly.

After all the boys had been fed they were allowed to go to the gymnasium. There they worked off their high spirits by exercising. They sang and danced among themselves and there were no visitors to look on and criticise. Maybe that is why they had such a good time.

they had such a good time.

Feeding this crowd of newsboys is no easy task. It took 700 pounds of turkey, 240 pounds of ham, four barrels of potatoes, four barrels of turnips, 500 pies and 200 gallons of tea to do it. In addition to this there were cranberries, celery and 500 loaves of bread.

Remarkable Telephone

Gain.

Net gain in telephones contracted for in Manhattan and The Bronx during November, 1905

3274 Telephones.

Total net gain in telephones contracted for from January 1st to November 30th, 1905

30270 Telephones.

There are now in service and under contract in Manhattan and The Bronx

Over 182000 Telephones.

value of the system to each user and the public appreciation of this fact, together with the efficient service rendered at reasonable rates, have brought about this

NEW YORK TELEPHONE COMPANY.

15 DEY STREET.

constantly increasing growth.

Every telephone added increases the scope and

EVEN THE POOR AND THE PRIS-

Twas a Great Day for the Newsles and Many of Them Were Repeaters-Sad Dinner of the Homeless Men-Turkey

McClure's For a short story that thrills read Jack London's "Love of Life." For a short story that amuses read Jean Webster's "Parable for Husbands." Good illustrations with both of them. In December Mc-

Clure's Magazine.

All news stands, 10c. $1 a year Over 414,000 families are reading

McClure's Magazine, 44-60 EAST 23D ST., NEW YORK.

sent out to poor people in the neighbor-There was a good deal of food left over, There was a good deal of food left over, and this will be given to the neighborhood poor to-day. The hotels contributed generously to the food supply and many charitable women of various city churches supplied tables which they named after their churches.

Across the way in the Five Points House of Industry the boy and girl inmates had a gala day. They had their dinners at noon, and in the afternoon they all took part in an entertainment. During the afternoon homeless men and women were fed. Hundreds of them got all they wanted to get Large sized tin plates were suptheir churches. to eat. Large sized tin plates were sup-plied to each applicant for food. Each plate was filled to its holding capacity. and the hungry one was told to clear it. Tin dishes holding two cups of coffee were given to each diner. Every man who was fed there looked as if he needed a meal. was fed there looked as if he needed a meal. Some were cripples and many looked sickly. Only a few had overcoats. They all ate ravenously. They were a quiet lot. When they finished eating they filed out into the coll as silently as they had entered. A few stopped long enough to thank the people who had waited on them.

Two thousand boys had a happy day at the Catholic Protectory in West Chester. After their turkey dinner they held games and then had are grigotial meat.

nd then had an estertainmeat. The America's Female Guardian Society eld its seventy-second Thanksgiving celebration at its home in The Bronx.

The Volunteers of America give their turkey dinner on Christmas day. They contented themselves with giving sand-wiches and coffee to any one who applied for food vocation. The Tombs prisoners had a Thanksgiving dinner, with two religious services in the morning, one of which Dr. Monro, the Tombs chaplain, conducted. It required 215 turkeys, 500 chickens and 150 mince pies to feed the persons imprisoned. Special meals were served to David Rothschild and John W. Wooten, who were convicted of conspiracy in connection with the looting of the Weissel estate.

the Weissel estate.

The prisoners in all the city prisons were well taken care of. Magistrate Mayo sent in two gallons of ice cream for the women imprisoned in Essex Market, and Alderman Max Levine of "de Ate" sent in two boxes of cigars for the men. The prisoners on Blackwell's Island all had turkey. So did Blackwell's Island all had turkey. So did every homeless person who applied for a meal at the Municipal Lodging House. Even the Bowery saloons supplied their patrons with turkey free lunch. One saloon disposed of fifteen big turkeys on the free lunch counter during the day. No one who wanted turkey need have gone without it.

JEROME APPLAUDED IN CHURCH. Dr. MacArthur Stirs His Congregation by a Talk on Bosses.

Dr. Robert S. MacArthur preached a Thanksgiving sermon to a large congregation at Calvary Baptist Church, in Fiftyseventh street, near Seventh avenue, yes

His hearers took advantage of the customary Thanksgiving Day suspension of the rule against applause in church. The applause reached its height when Dr. Mac-Arthur, after dwelling on the immense value to America of Folk, Weaver and Colby, launched out into praise of William Travers After giving thanks for the down-

As for their opponents, who does not thank God for their brave fight and heroic victories? Folk is rightly honored from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Weaver and Colby are well known as fine examples of the higher class of men now who have broken through the bosses into political prominence. As for Jerome—as for William Travers Jerome—

Dr. MacArthur was interrupted by an outburst of handelapping that lasted several oung Americans on a new career. He has given courage and hope to men who dare defy the impudent and tyrannical control of place him on their ticket shame on them Yet he dared oppose them. He stood alone It was a brave act. He appealed directly to the people. But the people responded Thank God, they responded. Another burst of applause interrupted the sermon, men and women apparently keeping their seats only by an effort. will be easier in after years as a result of this triumph for a clean man to defy political parties and appeal to the public for support. The whole country watched his campaign with intense interest and his victory thrilled the republic. More, it evoked enthusiasm for good government in lands beyond the sea and made his name synonymous vith heroism, manliness, patriotism and right PIG'S HEAD DINNER FOR 2,000. Close Harmony in the Singing When Eighth Half Barrel Was Reached.

The Second Assembly District Democratic Club held its annual Thanksgiving pig's head dinner last night at its rooms in the Assembly Hotel, 71 Sands street, Brooklyn. The dinner consisted of beer and pig's head, mixed ale, mulligan and pig's feet, Wurtzburger and spare ribs, Pilsner feet, Wurtzburger and spare ribs, Pilsner and turkey, more beer and pig, and more beer and pig, and more beer and pig, again beer and pig, more hops and pig. Otto Huber's special and pig, and more German disturbance.

Nearly 2,000 persons were served. By 8.30 they were on their ninth half barrel of beer. The programme for the entertainment consisted mostly of singing by local talent. The vast audience joined in the chorus. By the time they were on the eighth half barrel the harmony got. in the chorus. By the time they were on the eighth half barrel the harmony got pretty close.

James Lawlor, Alderman elect of the district, was the guest of the evening.

Mrs Vanderbilt Gives Dinner for Boys. NEWPORT, R. I., Nov 30 .- Four hundred newsboys and messengers boys were guests of Mrs. Frederick W. Vanderbilt this after-of Mrs. Frederick W. Vanderbilt this after-noon at a Thanksgiving dinner in Masonic Hall. It was the thirteenth annual feast which she has given.

There was music by an orchestra and the boys gave three rousing cheers for Mrs. Vanderbilt. The only formality was a prayer by the Rev. E. A. Johnson of the Baptist Church.

Despondent Clerk a Suicide.

Reinhold Stasch, 28 years old, a German clerk, committed suicide by shooting himself with a .32 calibre revolver last night He had a furnished room at 32 Rector street, where he had been living for some months He has been out of work a good while and grew despondent.

Turkey With All the Honors: Concert by the Heinebund and Band Music by Italian Orchestra - All Mince Pies Found Kosher-Star Spangled Banner.

1,260 ON ELLIS ISLAND.

Thanksgiving Day as it was celebrated on Ellis Island .won't soon be forgotten by the 1,260 immigrants held there yesterday for observation by Commissioner Watchorn and his assistants. A hundred or more of the number will have to go back to the lands from which they came, but they will carry with them the memory of at least one happy day in America.

The good and bounteous dinner that was spread by Harry Balfe of the commissary department was not the only interesting feature of the day. The crowd was enter-tained also by the Heinebund Singing So-

The turkey and cranberry sauce and mince pie puzzled a majority of the feasters. They knew nothing of the great American festival of Thanksgiving, but they enjoyed it all the same. Later, when they filed into the main inspection hall, where the concert was given, and saw the thousands of persons who had come to join them in their celebration, smiles spread over their wondering faces that were good to see.

Employees of the department who are nembers of the Heinebund told Mr. Watchorn some weeks ago that the society would be pleased to sing for the pleasure of the newly landed on the holiday.

"By all means," said Mr. Watchorn. "I know of nothing that would do more good." So at 2 o'clock in the afternoon the Heinebund, with 100 voices and 900 friends. boarded the ferryboat Ellis Island at the Barge Office and sailed across the choppy waters of the upper bay. A few of the singers were almost seasick before they got to land again, but all managed to pull themselves together in time to be laughably mistaken for a fresh arrival of unexpected would-be citizens.

All the immigrants had not finished their dinners when the visitors arrived. There were so many to feed that they had to be served in relays and, besides, they had so much to eat that they took a good long time at the tables.

A surprising arount of time at the tables. A surprising amount of food was consumed. There were 1,000 pounds of turkey and two barrels of cranberries made into sauce. Many of the immigrants, with watering mouths, passed the turkey because they had not the assurance that it was kosher and they could not forget The Law. In its stead they had well better the could not be the could not forget the law. real kosher sausage, taking care to see that the label was affixed. There were 4 barrels of potatoes, white and sweet; 20 gallons of soup, 400 loaves of bread, 2 barrels of nuts, 2 barrels of oranges, 2 barrels of cardy for the women and chil-dren, 2 cigars for each of the men, and, last but by no means least, 500 mince Mince pie was a novelty as to form i contents to every one who sat down to his first Thanksgiving dinner. Half a pie was served to each, but it was some minutes before the diners could make up their minds as to what they were getting and as to whether they would risk it. When once they buried their teeth in the spicy filing it was easy to see that they would be willing converts to the great American practice of pie eating. There was none left over— even those who balked at the turkey because it wasn't kosher were persuaded that "mince pie" meant something they weren't ex-pected to know contained meat. And then came the concert. The immigrants marched by twos into the main inspection room, where they took seats in the various cages on the ground floor. In the centre of the hall the hundred members of the Heinebund were gathered, while the guests occupied the galleries and the corridors.

The programme was varied, ranging from "Mein Alt Kentucky Heim" to "The Star Spangled Banner," which not even a Heinebunder ventured to translate. There weren't any other national anthems sung, though Italian and Swedish numbers were on the programme. When "The Star Spangled Banner" was sung all the visitors arose. The immigrants, catching the idea, though they did not know the song or understand the words, also stood up and bowed their heads in reverence. Even the ones who are to go back to their native lands joined in the expression of respect. ned in the expression of respect Joined in the expression of respect.

The Heinebund Society made a tremendous hit and every number was roundly applauded. Carl Kapp, the musical director, was congratulated on the manner in which he had trained the chorus, and Miss Jenny Kolisher, soprano; Edmund Jahn, basso; C. P. W. Kriens, violinist, and Miss Eleanor Foster-Kriens, accompanist, each came in for many compliments. A feature of the day's entertainment

A feature of the day's entertainment was provided by Harry Balfe. He had brought from New York the Neapolitan Orchestra, which played and sang in the employees' restaurant. Before the employees' dinner was served the gayly dressed minstrels played and sang for the immigrants. A number of Italians who were in grants. A number of Italians who were in the crowd were more than pleased. To-day there will be on Ellis Island twenty-seven missionaries, who in their native tongues will explain to the immi-grants the precise meaning of what was yesterday somewhat of a mystery to them.

HER FATAL MASQUERADE. Little Girl Chased Cap Under Horses' Feet and Tripped on Long Skirt.

Alaska Velebil, a girl of 8, who lived at 341 East Seventy-fifth street, dressed up in her mother's skirt, a Tam o' Shanter and a false face, and started out yesterday afternoon to celebrate Thanksgiving day with the "ragamuffin parade."

At First avenue and Seventy-fifth street with a crowd of children, she was playing in the street when a two horse truck driven by John Reilly of 1845 Second avenue came along. Just as the truck got near the children the wind blew off the child's Tam children the wind blew off the child's Tam o'Shanter, which rolled to the horses' feet.
She ran after the cap, but she didn't see how close the trick was upon her because of the false face, which wasn't a good fit.
Reilly pulled up his horses and shouted to her, but it was too late. She tripped on the long skirt and fell under the horses' feet. They trampled her, and one wheel of the truck, which was loaded with iron pipes, passed over her chest before Reilly could stop.

Reilly jumped off his truck and picked the child up. She was dying, When Policeman Delebanty of the East Sixty-seventh street station came along Reilly gave himself up. He said he had children of his own, who were out playing, too, and he told Delebanty took him to the statical house.

Delebanty took him to the statical house, the said out later by Corporar Scholer. He was bailed out later by Coroner Scholer > 'Public confidence in advertised articles is being fearfully shaken. 'The salesmanship' on paper must be honest 'sales-manship' to win." Ad. Sense.

Mount

advertisements are backed by quality. No amount of advertising on earth could create and hold the enormous permanent demand enjoyed by this excellent brand of whiskey. Distillery [Square Bottling

In Square Bottles Only! THE COOK & BERNHEIMER CO., New York.

We weren't all born to look alike and think alike and dress Diversity's a mark of humanity. It's a phase reflected in our showing of winter overcoats at $20.

Many kinds of overcoats for many minded men.

At $20. Overcosts of black and Oxford ker. ma velous and worsteds three-quarter Chesterfield and tourist models.

WM. VOGEL & SON, Broadway, Houston St.

BEST& C

SpecialSaleGirls'Dresses,

Broken Lots and Odd Sizes, made of

Cheviots, Fancy Mixtures, Voiles and Veilings,

Formerly $12.00 to $15.00, Now $6.75 & $7.50. Formerly $13.00 to $25.00, Now $8.75 & $9.75.

Now $10.50 & $12.50.

60-62 West 23d Street.

Formerly $16.00 to $35.00,

TRY IT IN YOUR BATH SCRUBB'S Mollient Ammonia.

Refreshing as a Turkish Bath. Invaluable for Toilet Purposes. Splendid Cleansing Preparation for the Hair. Removes Stains and Grease Spots from Clothing.
Allays the Irritation caused by Mosquito Bites. Invigorating in Hot Climates. Restores the Color to Carpets. Cleans Plate and Jewelry. Softens Hard Water. So Vivifying after Motoring and other Sports.

A DELICHTFUL PREPARATION.

SCRUBB & CO., LTD., NEW YORK and LONDON. ALL HER FURNITURE GONE. | him $220 for the $200 she got, so altered Woman Accuses Man From Whom She Borrowed $200 a Year Ago. Mrs. Carrie Kramer of 677 East 134th street appeared in the West Side court yesterday against Charles M. Maxwell, storage warehouse Broadway. She charged that he had taken Froadway. She charged that he had taken from her furniture valued at $5,000.

A year or so ago Mrs. Kramer had a prosperous furnished room house of eighteen rooms at 159 West Forty-fourth street. Some one got her to invest in stocks and she found herself loser by about $14,000.

She gave up her house, put her furniture in storage and set about looking for a smaller place.

in storage and set about looking for a smaller place.

She found the place she wanted at $250 a month rent. As she had only $50 she went to Maxwell and borrowed $200 on the furniture, which was stored in Thirty-fourth street. This was in October, 1904. Maxwell, she says, tried to get her to give him an order so that he could remove the furniture to the Standard Storage Warehouse, but she refused. When she went to get her furniture recently she found, she alleges, that Maxwell had presented an order for it and had it removed.

The order, Mrs. Kramer declares, she never signed. She alleges that what purported to be an order was really the note ported to be an order was really the note she had given Maxwell promising to pay

EXPERT ANALYTICAL AND CONSTRUCTIVE

Public Accountants

Audits, Accountings, Reorganizations, Arbitrations, Design and Construct Cost and other Systems. U.S. and British Legal and Commercial Practice

Graham-Woodward & Co. Member American Association of Public Accountants 25 BROAD ST., NEW YORK Telephone 2616 Broad

ESTABLISHED NEARLY HALF A CENTURY OVERCOATS

> YOUR exact size of Overcoat is probably here in our stock in the very style you particularly favor. Buy it to-day, -and you can wear it tomorrow.

WITHOUT DELAY.

Subway Station at Our Door. ASTOR-PLACE-AND-FOURTH-AVENUE as to read like an order.

The examination was adjourned until December 8.

Have you ever observed what hale and hearty men Ale-drinkers are, as a rule? : : : :

> There must be something in it.

Try Evans' Ale.

The Gifts Most Highly Prized.

Our stock is an Exposition of all that is best in Modern Cabinet Making, and the display of Desks, Rockers, Sewing Tables and Odd Pieces is par-ticularly interesting from the Holiday Standpoint.
Select now. Delivery

when desired. Schmitt Brothers,

40 East 23d. BUSINESS NOTICES

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation allays pain, cures wind colic, diarrhoa, 25c a bottle.

DIED. GODFREY.—At San Diego, Cal., Nov. 30, Charles Dudley, eldest son of Charles H. and Emma
L. Godfrey, in the 37th year of his age
Funeral and Interment at Woodlawn at the convenience of the family.

HALL.—On Thursday, Charles G. G. Hall, 10 10gest son of the late Thomas J. and Josephi iarlus Hall. Notice of funeral hereafter. MERRITT.—Isaac C., aged 67 years, suddenb. of pneumonia, Wednesday, Nov. 29. Funeral service Friday at 8 P. M. at 49 R at sta Brooklyn. Interment private.

SENNELL. Thomas Garrett, after lingering ill-ness, dearly beloved son of Mary L. and Edward J. Sennell. Funeral from his late residence, 1145 st., on Sunday, Dec. 3, at 2 P. M. St. Raymond's. Bronx Council, b Suburban Council, Boyal Arcanum Lodge, Benevolent Protective Order 871: Tammany Hall General Com-35th Assembly district respectfully attend. WILTSHIRE -- On Tuesday, Nov. 2º. Francis Funeral services Priday, Dec. 1, at 2 o'clock at his late residence, 554 Macon St., Fr. N. Y. George Wiltshire.

THE PRESBYTERIAN HOSPITAL The Thirty seventh Anniversary of the locality terian Hospital will be held on Saturday opening the Property of Nursing, 37 East 71st st. Address by the Rev. Howard Dumeid, D. D. of First Live terian Church. The Hospital and the new school of Nursing will be open for inspection from 2 to 6 Nursing will be open for inspection will be will be will be open for inspection will be will be will be will be will be wil